vived It.

Wagon has reposed for the past twenty-years. The wagon was used only about three years. The reason for its being discarded was that it was too small for the purpose it was intended for. It was a small wagon, and it was found that it was not large enough to hold the goods that were being carried. It was also found that it was not strong enough to hold the weight of the goods.
It was therefore discarded, and a larger wagon was purchased. The old wagon was then put in the cellar, and it has remained there ever since.

Old-Time Customs.

Worship of wells was everywhere common in England and Ireland before the days of Christianity. Even yet, in spite of the progress of civilization, it is found in some English and Irish neighborhoods. The third Sunday in the month of June, the custom of many centuries in the north of England to meet on this day at the wells in the neighborhood to drink sugar and water, a ceremony which has been done the party generally went to the nearest inn, where the young men returned the hospitality they had received with cakes, ale and punch.

There is nothing new in the fashion of going bareheaded, which has become common in England and America during the last few years. In ancient days hats were unknown, men having heads attached to their outer garments, which they wore or discarded at pleasure. Stow, the old historian, says that nobody wore anything else except the last Mayor of London, who sometimes carried a hat on state occasions. In the reign of King Henry VII, he says, the citizens began to wear "hat caps," and the custom has been so light that they were obliged to tie them under their chins, for else the wind would be master over them.

In England when hidden treasure is found, the law requires the owner to hold an inquest over it. Formerly it was a coroner's duty to hold an inquest in case of burghers. A statute of Edward I. decrees that "when coroners are commanded by the King's bailiff or by the honest men of the county, they shall go to the places where any be slain or sud-

Topics Discussed.
Junius F. Wells spoke on "Tested by the Lives of Its Members, How Far Is M.
I. A. Work 'Unimpaired'?" "Home Influence" was the subject of a talk by Ruth M. Fox. Minnie L. Snow, president of the general board of the association, spoke a few words with regard to the work. Mendelsohn's oratorio, "Thanks Be to God," was the final anthem of the choir.

Evening Meeting.
At 7 o'clock in the evening the meeting convened again. An address was given on the work by Ida B. Smith of the primary association. "With Verdure Clad," a sonnet solo from Hayden, was rendered by Lottie Owen. Susan Young Gates gave a strong talk on how effort may modify one's environment. The Liberty state quartet, composed of Thomas H. Ashworth, W. Durr, Charles Pike and Ed.
Bralay, gave a selection. "Let Us Worship God," was the topic treated by Nepht L. Morris. This ended the M. I. A. convention of this spring.

Knights of Pythias.
Rocky Mountain lodge No. 3, Knights of Pythias, has during the last six months, increased its membership 50 per cent, and is rapidly coming to the front rank in the list of lodges of the grand domain of Utah. At its regular meeting last Thursday evening the first and second ranks were conferred on four candidates, and at its next regular meeting, next Thursday evening, June 15, these four candidates will be initiated in the rank of Knight. There are now other applications for membership in the lodge also on file, with others coming, and our master of work promises that during this term there will be initiations in some one of the different ranks at every convention of the lodge.

Secretary Wilson's Double.

Men in the ordinary walks of life who resemble men who are national celebrities are sometimes placed in embarrassing positions. At a fashionable commencement given in Washington within the week a piano tuner of local fame arrived and took his place with becoming modesty in the rear of the hall. The exercises opened with himself vying when the "lady principal" stepped to the front of the stage and announced that she had just been informed that the Secretary of Agriculture was present, and that it would confer great honor on her students and on the occasion if he would come on the platform and address a few words to the audience later in the evening.
There was great applause, and then there was a wait. No Secretary of Agriculture stepped up, and after a drag of several minutes the programme was continued.
But when a few more musical numbers had passed out of the future into the past the "lady principal" again spoke a little piece, and this time she added that since Mr. Wilson was so modest that he declined to come to the stage she would send a delegation of her most attractive young ladies to escort him.
These radiant maidens, brave in white lace and flowers, tripped down the aisle and stopped before the astonished piano tuner, who turned red, then white and then red again. He whispered something to the first young lady, and they were sheepishly back to the stage, but the auditors received no explanation, and all they knew is that "Secretary Wilson" took an abrupt departure from the hall—

The Management of Preliminary Pro-Pioneer state, and the "Management of Conjoint Meetings" by B. F. Grant. A discussion took place on the developing a sentiment for the sacredness of things concerning the religion of the Latter-day Saints.

Meeting in Tabernacle.

In the afternoon the conjoint meeting was in the Tabernacle, the building being filled so full that it was necessary finally to open the balconies and let the people go upstairs. Two numbers were given, which were beautiful. These were the solo by Mrs. Nellie Bruce Pugsley, accompanied by the choir, "Gospel Restoration," by Bishop, with words by Evan Stephens, and the tenor solo, "The Lord Is My Light," by Frank P. Foster. The music is a whole was exceptional, and a credit to those who performed. The first anthem was "Glory to God Our Deliver," music by Prof. McClellan and words by Evan Stephens. For its power it might be compared to some of the masters. B. H. Roberts spoke a few words of welcome. The presentation of officers took place and they were sustained.

The Age of Pretenses.

Pretense is one of the fashions of the time. Pretense is becoming so perfected that it is the thing of the hour. It is put off all pretense he would run the risk of being charged with affectation.

Next to having the best thing now-days is seeming to have. There is really some foundation in reason for this kind of pretense, since it has become the fashion of the world to measure a man's success in life by the dollars he has made.

Here is a cable message which tells of a new phase of pretense.
"Paris—The existence of a new and curious business in Paris has just transpired. This is the hiring out of wedding present to brides, so that they may impress their friends and their acquaintances with the number and value of their gifts. Jewelry, lace, furs, etc., are lent out for a consideration, and after they have served their purpose and been duly chronicled in the newspapers they are returned to the owners. It appears that a well-known Paris jeweler does a large business of this nature."—Washington Quilting encampment No. 1 will meet tomorrow night. The election of officers will take place and the new by-laws will be taken up for final consideration. The time of meeting is 8 o'clock.

Cannon Colfax No. 1, Patriarchs Millennium will have a regular convocation tomorrow night, when a full attendance of the chevaliers is greatly desired by the officers.

National Telesch lodge No. 1 had a pleasant meeting last Saturday night, with an attendance so large that there were no vacant chairs. The following officers were elected, who will serve for the next six months: Elizabeth Miller, N. G.; Alice Manning, V. G.; Flora Manning, secretary; Mattie Payne, treasurer, and Louise Wenger, trustee.

Women of Woodcraft.

Woodbine circle No. 41 held its regular meeting with Guardian Neighbor Gilbert in the chair pro tem. All officers and guards present. There were three initiations. The regular election of officers was held, resulting for the different chairs as follows: Guardian neighbor, Miss Rogers; advisor, Mrs. Broberg; magician, Miss Alt; attendant, Mrs.
Dalley; inner sentinel, Mrs. Keller; outer sentinel, Mrs. Brandt; manager, eighteen months' term, Gertrude Thomas. We also had a visitor from outside circle.
Silver Maple circle No. 108 held its regular weekly meeting Friday evening with all officers present and a large attendance of members. Visitors from Salt Lake circle were present, who were greeted with the circle honors. Silver Maple circle is the only circle in Salt Lake City that has any monuments to unveil this year.
It will unveil at both cemeteries Sunday afternoon, June 15. All circles and visit-Brotherhood will hold its regular meeting on Friday night in Electrical Workers' hall.

Fraternal Union of America.

Evergreen lodge No. 131 will hold its regular meeting tonight, which no doubt will be largely attended. The last special meeting was a most joyous occasion. The ladies had prepared the tables in the banquet hall with cakes, fruits, sandwiches, etc., and the secretary furnished the ice cream, and after a short programme in the lodgeroom an adjournment was made to the banquet hall. A large number were present, but not as many as had been expected. But a very pleasant time was enjoyed by all present, and those who were absent missed a treat. The members are respectfully asked to watch this paper very Monday morning, and read the secret society news. They will learn of all special business that has happened or is to happen. They will also learn when the lodge meets and where and when to pay assessments. An invitation is extended to come up tonight.

Mohawk Tribe.

Mohawk Tribe No. 5 held its weekly meeting on Saturday and about eight pale faces. All present enjoyed the work.
They expect to have plenty of work from now on, as they have an open resolution covering 100 new members at organization prices for the degrees. They will soon be in position for their $500 degree paraphernalia.
